This is a great game which can be played in many different ways. Full instructions and different options are given, but one option is that the child throws a counter onto the alphabet board and then says the sound of the letter that it has landed on.

Each child has an alphabet card and the child should mark off each sound that they land on and correctly identify. The winner is the first child to mark off all of the sounds on their card. This game can also be used as a fun way of learning the alphabet sequence.

An ideal game for any age to learn the alphabet sounds.
