This game has been designed for young children to give them some practice at rhyming words.

To play each participant should choose a rhyming board.

The caller (an adult or older child) calls each of their words. The participants need to check their rhyming boards for a match. The caller, as well as saying the word, can give the children rhyming examples e.g. bat: bat, mat, pat.

If the child has a match on their board they should cover it with a counter/ card. The first person to cover all of their pictures is the winner.
